Overview

Already have a college diploma or university degree, but want to switch gears to HR?

Confederation College’s Human Resources Management one-year graduate certificate program is designed to help college and university graduates make the jump to Human Resources.

This intensive program upgrades your education with a series of courses to develop your skill set for this in-demand field. Courses cover basic and advanced topics such as human resources, labour relations law, occupational health and safety and human resources planning.

Top Highlights

- Intensive one-year program provides you with an in-demand skill set
- Fast track your business career in a whole new direction
- Graduates will be able to write their Certified Human Resources Professional (CHRP) designation (subject to certain academic goals – see the Program Brochure for more information)
- Continue on to a university degree through articulation agreements

Employment Opportunities

The one-year Human Resources Management graduate certificate program, combined with your existing diploma or degree, will help you find positions in a variety of private and public sector organizations including training, health and safety, pensions and benefits administration, personnel administrators, human resource managers, industrial relations officers, personnel managers, union representatives and other areas of HR.
